The Matamorus Romance.

Mesars, Kirkbride, Ward and Richardson, the parties engaged in ferretting out the origin of the slanderous and sensational story of a murder at Matamoras, Ohio, seventeen years ago, in which Mr. Kirkbride, the father of Mr. Ward and a gent.eman, named West were alleged to have been implicated, were at Bellaire yesterday, and learned that the information on which the first article in the Tribine was based was obtained from Dr. Martin, late of Matamoras, but now living at Bellaire, who had received a letter from his wife in which the rumor was related as a fact. The gentlemen left for Matamoras with the avowed determination of entering criminal proceedings for libel against Mrs. Martin and Col. Dan Johnson, of Tyler county, who confirmed the story and added other particulars when in this city recently.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH.

After the Board of Commissioners ad journed yesterday a reporter met Dr. J. E. Reeves, Secretary of the State-Board of Health, and asked him what he thought of the appointments. He approved them all, the appointments. He approved them all, particularly that of Dr. Baird. "Now," said he, "if the City Council will establish a City Health Board, and make these three gentlemen, or two-of them, or even Dr. Baird alone, also a member of that, the two organzations will be enabled to do close and valuable work for the city and county. Dr. Baird's position as a member of the City Board of Public Works makes it especially desirable that he should be a member of the City Board of Health, and I hope no time will be lost in creating and appointing a City Board."

Boon after noop the rush for the Garden commenced. The scenes on the Eim Grove were a repetition of those of Sunday. Every car carried about twice the number it was built for. The plenic was given under the auspices of the Opera House band, and therefore the selling of beer could be carried on without the Ei. Alphonans Society violating the rules of the tatholic Church, promulgated by Bishop Kain. No dancing ass allowed, however. Fully 2,500 people crowded into the Garden, and all seemed to enjoy themselves. They lounged under the big trees or sat in the pavilion, parlook of refreshments and listened to the superb concert that was given from 2 to 5 o'clock by the bands. The bands played familiar size. The music was really fine, and deserved the the spplause it received. At 5 o'clock the Canton people left in order to catch their train, which left Bridgeport about 7 p. m. The Opera House Band gave an evening concert. The Canton people, by the way, were delighted with the pleasant time they had in Wheeling.

The day was all that could be desired. For a wonder it did not rain. It usually does when this Society turns ont. At the Park everything was quietand orderly. The committees all did their work well and deserve praise.

AN AFFECTING STORY

OF A YOUNG MINER OVER THE RIVER.

eserted by His Wife, and Finally Run Over and Career of Sin-Matters in the Glass City. and the News in the Vicinity.

THE Rechabites of Guiding Start Tent had mantic story of the life and death of a young miner at Martin's Ferry. INTELLIGENCES reporters have failed to corroborate all the de-tails by careful inquiry, though the fact that Polley was rau over and killed Sunrday night is true. The story has the advantage of the Matamoras sensation in having a foun-dation in fact, at least. It is given in is, the wife became estranged, and wandered off into pleasures and pastures new. A separation occurred about a year ago, as the story goes, and Will Polley was compelled, through the obstinate refusal of his alleged recreant wife, to care for his four little children as best he could. Our informant says that he has been caring for them at his home near Rively's coal works for nearly a year, while the wife remained away from home, it is said, living with a man in Bridgeport. Frmaily the little girl took sick, and with the i-pulse that only a father can feel Will Polley started to inform the alleged recreant wife and mother, of the condition of his child, and, if possible, have her return to care for it. But at Martin's Ferry he learned that her paramour was at Bridgeport, and he gave up the trip, and in returning to his nome, disheartened, on Saturday night, met the terrible fate that it seems was in store for alim. This is not ne worst feature of the story.

Our information is this, though the mother has been away from the marital couch for nearly a year a child was born to her recently, and that on Sunday she sent two men to Martin's Ferry to inform the husband the had deserted, that his child was dead, (it having died on claurady,) and that he had better come to Bridgeport and bury it. The messengers got as far as Martin's Ferry and there they found the mangled remains of the discarded husband, awaiting the arrival of some kind friends or authorities to buy them. The case, as told, is sad in the exreme, and if true in all the revoluting data;

THEVANDERBILTSYSTEM

Of Ratironds—the Extent and Locality of asked Mr. Depew what he thought of the utlook for the railroads, especially the Vanderbilt properties.

"It is first class. We are constantly a work upon our different roads, making improvements to track and rolling stock and rushing extensions that cannot but add largely to our revenue. In the western part of Pennsylvania Mr. Vanderbilt's enterprises are pushing vigorously into the Connellsville and Clearfiold coal regions, and when his system of coal roads there, embracing nearly 400 miles, is completed we will be able to feed both the Lake Shore and New York Central from the richest coal and coke regions in the United States. These branch roads will add largely to our businers, and will put us in possession of the most valuable kind of traffic. One of these roads, the Youghiogheny, runs direct from Pittsburgh to the Connellsville coal district. It connects with the Lake Eric & Pittsburgh, one of our roads, and then continues north of Ashtabula, where it connects with the Lake Shore. This road is almost ready for susiness. It will be an especially strong feeder for the Lake Shore, while the Pine Creek road, which we are building, and which connects the Reading system and the New York Central roads will bring to the latter road an enormous amount of business. The South Pennsylvanis. ushing extensions that cannot but add ected, in process of construction south from Harrisburg to Pittsburgh, connects with the Pittsburgh road and thus gives with the Pittsburgh road and thus gives the iron interests a direct outlet on the Iake Shore. What is known as the Vanderbilt system when completed will® be the greatest system in the world, and will reach the most productive agricultural, manufacturing and commercial territory in this country. It now consists of the New York Central and Hudson River railroad, 456 miles and four tracks; Lake Shore 550 miles and double track; Northwestern, 4,500 miles in Nickel Plate, 550 miles, or a full 6,600 miles of double and quadruple track, not to speak of thousane's of miles of side tracks, &c. In addition to his large interest in eace onh of these roads, Mr. Vanderbilt has blocks of Rock Island and Burlington stock."
